ROBOTICS COMPETITION

This past weekend, South Central Elementary sent 7 students to Georgetown, Kentucky, to compete in their first Robotics Competition. Students had to use problem solving, collaboration, and communication skills to perform well at the competition. We are very proud of the hard work and success they had this weekend. Great Job Madison Maddox, Maggie Keith, Jocelyn Prenatt, Alayna Davis, Brayden VanCleve, Madelyn Wolverton, and Willie Russell. We also want to say a special thank you to their families that came to support them and cheer them all. Special thanks to Coach Regina Cory for giving our students this opportunity. Finally, we want to give a special thanks to Greg Hess. We could not have done this without his help in robotics!

STUDENTS LEARN ABOUT BATS FROM A HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT

Shannon Johnson is a local Girl Scout and a senior at South Central High School. She has been working on her Gold Award which is the highest award a Girl Scout can earn. She has chosen to do a project on Indiana bats and why we need to protect them. She presented her project to Mrs. Cory's second grade class. Students learned about the importance of bats, the dangers bats face, and what we can do to protect the bats in Indiana.

South Central Art Room

A grant from the Indiana Art Commission and the Harrison County Community Foundation has allowed South Central students to have a plethora of art experiences this year. South Harrison Community School Corporation envisions schools in which students experience success through authentic, real-life learning activities, focusing on an appreciation of the diversity of society and the ever-changing world. The arts are an important part of this vision. The opportunities the grant afforded were designed to allow the students to see a variety of art careers, have experiences with working artists and see how arts are supported in the community.

On February 8th, 3rd grades students were able to travel to the Kentucky Museum of Art and Craft. The students took a tour of the art gallery . They also created ceramic face jugs in the museums studio. The students had a great time seeing and discussing art and ideas.

On the left, students work with visiting artist Michelle Amos. Ms. Amos worked with 4th and 5th grade students for 4 art classes. The students used a variety of new fiber art processes including linoleum printing, embroidery and shibori. Each student created a fabric square. Michelle will piece the squares together into a finished product. It will be returned to SCES and displayed for many years.
